

Charting Your Course to Home Ownership

Housing Related Web Sites

ACORN Housing

ACORN Housing is a nonprofit organization providing free housing counseling to low to moderate income homebuyers. The site contains basic information purchasing and financing a home and information on avoiding foreclosure.

www.acornhousing.org

American Society of Home Inspectors (ASHI)

The ASHI Web site provides information about home inspection for homebuyers, sellers, real estate professionals, and home inspectors. Find more information pertaining to state regulations and standards of practice and code of ethics applied to ASHI members. The site also has a frequently asked questions (FAQ) section.

www.ashi.org

BankRate

The Bankrate site contains finance-related information for consumers; everything from money management, investments, ID Theft, mortgages, homeownership and more.

www.bankrate.com

Building Green

Building Green offers varied information concerning “building green” today. Find discussions on health-related issues, what constitutes green building, the selection of energy efficient appliances, heating and cooling systems, efficient building envelope systems and more.

www.buildinggreen.com

Building Science

Building Science provides objective, high quality information about building physics; systems design concepts and an awareness of sustainability to promote durable, healthy and economical buildings.

www.buildingscience.com

Center for Responsible Lending

This nonprofit organization works to stop predatory lending abuses through legislative and policy advocacy, coalition building, litigation and industry research. The center provides information and links to Web sites so the consumers can educate themselves or find help through consumer organizations.

www.responsiblelending.org

City, Town Info

Good information on buying houses in different areas of the state and country. The site will also allow you to obtain information, very detailed demographics, about specific towns and cities. Great for researching where you might choose to move.

www.citytowninfo.com

Consumer Action Agency

The consumer action agency is designed to educate consumers concerning money management, protecting their rights and awareness of laws designed to protect them.

www.consumer-action.gov

Ginnie Mae

Ginnie Mae is dedicated to expanding affordable housing in America by linking global capital markets to the nation's housing markets. Ginnie Mae securities are the only mortgage-backed securities that offer the full-faith and credit guarantee of the United States government. You will find on the site, buy vs. rent, affordability and loan estimator calculators as well as home buyer and ownership fact sheets.

www.ginniemae.gov

Fannie Mae

Fannie Mae is a private, shareholder-owned company that works to ensure mortgage money is available for people in communities across America. They do not lend money directly to homebuyers. Instead, they work with lenders to make sure they do not run out of mortgage funds, so more people can achieve their goal of homeownership. The Fannie Mae site contains valuable resources for first-time homeowners. To view their resources on home buying, simply click on a subsection of the For Homebuyers and Homeowners tab.

www.fanniemae.com

Federal Citizen Information Center

This site lists a variety of publications of interest to consumers, including housing topics such as financing and selling a house and home maintenance. Most publications require a small fee if ordered by mail.

They are available online at the Web site. To view the resources on housing simply click on the Housing tab.

www.pueblo.gsa.gov

Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) is an independent agency created by Congress that maintains the stability and public confidence in the nation's financial system by insuring deposits, examining and supervising financial institutions and managing receiverships. It provides basic information on looking for a home mortgage.

<http://www.fdic.gov/consumers/looking/index.html>

Federal Reserve Board

The Federal Reserve System often referred to as the Federal Reserve or simply "the Fed," is the central bank of the United States. It was created by Congress to provide the nation with a safer, more flexible and stable monetary and financial system. Find publications and links to other sites including information on bank accounts and services, consumer credit, identity theft leasing, mortgages and personal finance.

www.federalreserve.gov/consumers.htm

Federal Trade Commission (FTC)

The Federal Trade Commission Web site offers a wealth of information to consumers concerning money management, identity theft, finance related legislation, dealing with fraud and much more: www.ftc.gov. Interested in credit, shopping for mortgage or auto loans, checking the accuracy of your credit report, dealing with debt collectors and more? Go to www.ftc.gov/credit/. Interested in identity theft, how to avoid and cleaning up the mess if it happens to you? Go to www.ftc.gov/ftc/consumer.htm. The At Home pages are good resources to help consumers with pre- and post-purchase home issues.

www.ftc.gov

Find Law

Find Law for the Public provides a wealth of information on legal issues involved in buying a home, taxes, deed transfer, etc. Good unbiased information.

www.public.findlaw.com

Freddie Mac

Freddie Mac is a stockholder-owner corporation chartered by Congress in 1970 to keep money flowing to mortgage lenders in support of home ownership and rental housing. Freddie Mac conducts its business primarily by buying mortgages from lenders, packaging the mortgages into securities and selling the securities – guaranteed by Freddie Mac – to investors.

Resources for both educators and homebuyers are available under the Buying and Owning a Home tab.

www.freddiemac.com

Homefair

The site will assist in location of an apartment or home for rent or sale, financial calculators, moving tips and more. Researchable information on out of town locations; including schools, city statistics, cost of living and more.

www.homefair.com

HSH Financial Associates

This is an objective and independent source of mortgage and consumer loan information. It does not make or broker mortgages, but does include commercial sites.

www.hsh.com

Mortgage Bankers Association

Mortgage Bankers Association site is viewable at www.mortgagebankers.com and has links to their consumer focused pages. The site provides straightforward and unbiased information, home buyer education basics and simple calculators. This information can be found at:

www.homeloanlearningcenter.com

Motley Fool

The Motley Fool offers a great Web site with easy-to-read and understandable financial information; particularly good on investments, yet, good information on home purchasing.

www.fool.com

National Association of Home Builders

National Association of Home Builders offers information on diverse topics: buying vs. renting, various construction techniques, “green” houses, financial information, building your home, finding a contractor, etc.

www.nahb.org

National Association of Realtors

The association’s site provides quick links to topics of interest to potential and current home buyers. Learn more about remodeling cost vs. value, home price analysis, buyer and seller guides and much more.

http://www.realtor.org/home_buyers_and_sellers/index.html

National Center for Healthy Housing

National Center for Healthy Housing was founded to bring housing, environmental and public health communities together to combat childhood lead poisoning. It promotes practical methods to protect children from environmental health hazards in their homes while preserving affordable housing, the Web site offers a wealth of information on checking homes for hazards that will create negative health issues for people.

www.healthyhomes.net

Neighborhood Reinvestment Corporation

This National nonprofit organization was created by Congress to provide financial support, technical assistance and training for community-based revitalization efforts. The Corporation does business under the name NeighborWorks. Its publications include NeighborWorks, Bright Ideas and a wide range of reports and studies on affordable housing and community development topics. Many of the documents are available online, but paper copies of some of publications are available by request.

www.nw.org

Power Pay

PowerPay online financial calculator considers one's debts, interest rates and loan lengths to calculate personal debt repayment plans to reduce total debt cost and repayment time. Prepared by Utah State University Extension Service.

www.powerpay.org

Real Estate Louisiana

The site is maintained by the Louisiana Realtors Association and provides the consumer with realtor location information as well as tips on buying and selling a home.

www.realestatelouisiana.com

Residential Energy Services

RESNET: Residential Energy Services helps to increase the opportunity of ownership of high performance housing by consumers. Their standards are officially recognized by the U.S. mortgage industry; they offer verification of building energy performance for such programs as federal tax incentives. They run the EPA's ENERGY STAR program and the U.S. Department of Energy's Building America program. Access this Web site to examine the Energy Tax Credit information for consumers and builders.

www.resnet.us

U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD)

The HUD Web site provides a comprehensive resource on nearly every housing topic including buying and selling a home, loan fraud, predatory lending, avoiding foreclosure and many more. Information is available for consumers, the housing industry and other agencies. A place to begin is the Homebuyers link <http://www.hud.gov/buying/index.cfm> under Information for Citizens listing.

www.hud.gov

LSU AgCenter Writing Team:
Jeanette A. Tucker, Ph.D., Professor
Deborah L. Hurlbert, Extension Associate
Cynthia C. Richard, Extension Agent, Calcasieu Parish, Sheri Richard Fair, Extension Agent, Ascension Parish
Deborah C. Cross, Extension Agent, Iberville Parish
Cynthia B. Stephens, Extension Agent, Ouachita Parish

This material is based on work supported by the Restoring Home Ownership in Louisiana Hurricane Recovery project funded in part by USDA Cooperative State Research, Education and Extension Service, Smith-Lever Special Needs project number 2007-41210-03986.

Visit our Web site: www.lsuagcenter.com
Louisiana State University Agricultural Center
William B. Richardson, Chancellor
Louisiana Agricultural Experiment Station
David Boethel, Vice Chancellor and Director
Louisiana Cooperative Extension Service
Paul D. Coreil, Vice Chancellor and Director
Pub. 3089-B 09/08

Issued in furtherance of Cooperative Extension work, Acts of Congress of May 8 and June 30, 1914, in cooperation with the United States Department of Agriculture. The Louisiana Cooperative Extension Service provides equal opportunities in programs and employment. This institution is an equal opportunity provider.