

Gregg Henderson

Professor

Department of Entomology

402 Life Science Building

Baton Rouge, LA 70803

(225) 578-1831

(225) 578-1643 - fax

GRHenderson@agcenter.lsu.edu

Education:

- Ph.D., Social Biology of Formica montana, University of Wisconsin-Madison
- M.S., Cricket Myrmecophila, Washington State University
- B.S., Biology and Psychology, Rutgers University

Areas of Specialization:

- Social insects such as ants, termites and some wasps
- Social biology and ecology of ant species Formica montana
- Urban entomology related to fleas, cockroaches, bedbugs, stored grain insects, wood boring beetles and carpenter bees
- Biology of ant cricket Myrmecophilla manni (Orthoptera: Gryllidae)

Achievements

- National Public Radio spokesman
- President of subsection Fb of the ESA
- ESA recognition award in physiology, biochemistry and toxicology of the southeastern branch of the ESA
- Awarded Paul K. Adams Distinguished Professorship
- Authored 140 + publications
- President and co-owner of Termitech LLC
- 3 awards for research excellence, Orkin Pest Control
- 11 US patents, 7 international patents, 2 provisional patents
- 5 licenses

Intellectual Property on the Web:

http://www.lsuagcenter.com/en/administration/about\_us/chancellors\_office/intellectual\_property/